The Lincoln Club Buckles on the Armor

FOR THE WINTER CAMPAIGN

Committee Appointed to Look After the Finances-The Assert Banquet to Be Put Under Way.

"In it, and in it to stay." That is the cordict rendered at the meeting of the Limeata club hast night. Dr. J. R. Grissaid presided at the meeting. Among the prominent republicate present were: Fred A. Maynard, Samuel M. Lemon, Charles E. Sligh, Thomas J. O'Brien, George Clapperton, Dr. J. B. Griswold, Daight Goss, John W. Blodgett, Harry D. Joseff, Charles E. Gibson, E. E. Allen, Judge Cyrus E. Perkins, Sidney tions, H. Luton and others.

The matter of paying the club's in-debtedness was brought up for discus-ation. John W. Blodgett, the treasurer. stated that the revenues received from re-centing the half, together with the ciub dues, were sufficient to meet the running expenses, but that of the indebtedness incurred in furnishing the debtedness incurred in furnishing the rooms about $140 atili remained unpaid. If the believed there would be no trouble sequenced in wiping out this debt, and incodestably unged the members to do all in their power to keep up the enthusians of the club. It was found that the accessory and does were sufficient to meet the indebtedness.

charins K. Siigh did not believe it good policy to urge the members who are behind. Many of them are out of wed; and are unable to pay. He thought there were enough members of the club who are able to stand the expense, to pay all debts. He was willing to be one of transly five or thirty to do so.

It was so reed that a linance commit-ter. The chairman selected John W. Besligett. Judge Cyrus E. Perkins, C. W. Watsines and N. S. Carpenter.

Samuel M. Lamon was in favor of raising the amount by subscription, and sold by would send his check for $10 to the ironaurer this morning. He had no doubt that other members of the club would willingly do the same. Mr. Lea on's remarks were greeted with

Entertainment Committee,

Dwight Goss moved that an enter-tainment committee be appointed and that a meeting be held at least once a mouth to discuss the issues of the day. Fred A. Maynard seconded the motion and hoped that a non-partisan debate could be arranged with the Jefferson club. He believed the best time to make converts to the doctrine of repub-licanism is between elections, when men licanism is between elections, when men licanism is between elections, when men are not influenced by partisan motives and desires. The following committee as an extranament was appointed: George Chapterton, Dwight Goos, Fred A. Maynard and Charles E. Sligh. Mr. Maynard created considerable amusement by remarking that Mr. Sligh's being a member of the committee would mean a discussion of the silver question; which was regarded as a "horse" on Mr. Sligh.

Mr. Isligh. Both Mr. Maynard and Mr. Blodgett were in favor of beginning preparatory for the annual banquet in February to celebrate Lincoln's Dirthday, and t chairman will announce a committee of nine to take charge of the matter.

The meeting closed with a general discussion of the work of the club, and Dr. J. B. Griswold took occasion to roast gently the local republican papers because they did not give more extended notices of the meeting of the club.

"I looked all through Tux Hamato this morning before I found the notice," and he. "It was tucked away in one corner of the paper. In The Eagle to night I finally found a reference to the meeting in this heavity column. We should insint that the reasers give by should inest that the papers give us better notice, and should threaten to stop the papers if they don't." Dr. Grissold believed also that the committee on entertainment would do well to have notices of the club's meetings printed in large black type on hand bills and these bills folded in the papers, in order to reach the people.

Public sympathy has been with Weich from the first. While the jury was out Weich said if acquitted he would go to work at once, but if convicted he would consider state prison life preferable to being obliged to live with the Keagles. On the trial it was shown that the Reagle brothers had induced their eleter to separate from Weich and that not satisfied with that they had refused to let Weich remove from the farm the goods and stock which belonged to him, It was in a fight over a cow which Weich was trying to take from Keagle's barn that the shooting took place.

A. O. U. W. Convention.

The Ancient Order of United Workmen will hold a district delegate convention today in Oddfellows hall in the Tewer block, at which a district deputy will be elected and other important business transacted. Thomas Waish of this city is the present deputy for the fifth district, and has made a good record in instituting lodges during the past year. The district includes a large portion of the northern and western territory of the state and contains thirty-two lodges. This is the first meeting to be held under the delegate system in vogue in Massachusetts, but it is thought it will prove entirely satisfactory.
